The Checkny Case before the Senate. The Chectary Case before the Behate.

It rousists of copies of acts of the Chickasaw kegislature protessing against the action of the Choctaw council and sending delegates to Washington to urge the views of the Chickasaws on this and other subjects; also an argument from delegate B. T. Overson in their behalf, and an argument from B. F. Smallwood, Jaham Walker and Jos. P. Folsom, in the nature of a protest against the passage of the bill now pending in the senate which provides for raitiying the action of the Choctaw council. The points of these various papers have already been published. stances under which the treaty was precured, and the practical effects of its aperations, have been such as to get rid of it, and he therefore provides by the bill which he introduced to-day that the act of Aug. 1876, carrying it into effect shall be forthwith repealed. In order, however, to secure examination of the subject in all its phases, he also to-day offered a resolution, which was adopted without debate, directing the secure committee on foreign relations to inquire whether the treaty ought to be terminated, and if so, what mode of action for that purpose will be necessary and proper. Hill is, a member of the committee, and so is General Miller. The subject will therefore undoubtedly receive a thorough investigation, both from a southern and Pacific standpoint.

by him precipitated a discussion of the subject from a standpoint that was new to many of those who took part in it. Dr. Crosby was attacked with great vehomence from many quarters; but the discussion brought over other distinguished persons to his side. Among these is the well-known Dr. H. W. Thomas, of Chicago, recently expelled from the Methodist Episcopal church for preaching theological doctrines not in conformity with "the articles" of that denomination. In a sormon recently delivered from the independent pulpit he now occupies, he discussed "The Morals of Chicago," and of course dwelt largely on the drink evil which curses that as well as every other city. He referred to the fact that in one small district of Chicago, bounded by Clark and State. Congress and Townsond streets. there are 550 drinking saloons, 125 concert Saloons, and not less than 1000 unnamable places of lowest vice and infamy. These numbers, of course, imply a daily visitation of tens of thousands of young men. In the whole city of Chicago there are no less than 4000

Yet he was accepted by the proscoution without regard to this opinion. It may be that the evidence has changed his mind,—and yet it may be that it has not. Several men are on the jury who, by the answers they gave when questioned as to their opinions, showed that they had not thought the assassination of President Garfield an incident of sufficient importance to think or talk about. Hence they had not considered it at all, had taken no interest in it, and therefore had formed no opinion about it. This stolid apathy can hardly be regarded as favorable to back over the answers returned by the invers to the questions put in the course of their examinstion, it would appear that the majority of them are a rather stupid lot, considerably below the standard of average intelligence. Why such a man as Mr. Sargent should be deemed a propor person to discharge the very difficult and responsible duties of secretary of the interior does not admit of easy explanation beyond the latitude of Washington. One would imagine that a department around which gather half the orbers and schement around which gather has the jobbers and schemers who desire to swindle the government would require at its head a man of unquestioned integrity and of exceptional strength of character. The president has not been credited with having any such man in view, but it is to be hoped that he will come nearer the ideal secretary than Manager.

President Carfield, using his place while on trial as a pedestal for the gratification of his vanity, and a forum for the proclamation of his blackguard mai-

ice. The loud-mouthed, leering, grinning, bloody ghastly scoundred is sluffed with Christinus dinner.

ghastly scoundred is stuffed with Christmas dinner, and has two breakfasts per day, and a bedy-guard, and cach day the so-called trial is protracted thera are chances that the thachinery of the imberile court will fall in pleces through the sickness of a juryman. Is that the way to discourage victous dead heats from shooting the highest and best men of the nation in the back, for the sake of orlebrity, with the accompanioners of the sympathy of foots, applications for antographs, and the attention of the bonongrapher and photographer.

With nearly four bundred thousand tons of wheat in the state for movement, and our herbor crowded with ships, there is the best exidence that the faring interest, at least, will be benefited. That man, if he lives till spring, will be ablo to start out with a double-decked cage of performing lions.

It is said that Louis Wingfield's new play of "The Bondsman," for which John McCullough is said to have paid $5000, is merely a robash of Judge Conrad's great play of "Jack Cade," and inforior to it both in situations and dialogue. John must have made a great doat of money since he left San Francisco, or he could not afford to pay such prices for plays void of originality.

It may be added, these same gentlemen have been giving out the same statements for ten or aftern years.
